Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Remaining rather chilly with some showers into the weekend.

Today:
Bright or sunny spells and scattered coastal showers at first, the showers extending further inland into the afternoon, although still sunny spells. Feeling rather chilly in the northerly breeze. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers will generally die overnight, with most places becoming dry with lengthy clear spells. A widespread ground frost is likely, with a touch of air frost in rural areas. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Most places dry with bright or sunny spells after a cold start, although a few showers will develop into the afternoon. Still feeling chilly, although generally light winds. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Saturday, occasional showers, perhaps cloudier near the coast. Sunday, sunny spells and scattered showers. Chilly with overnight frost possible. Monday, rain and strong winds spreading from the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.